Ein Meteoritenhagel, der mitten in New York verheerende Verwüstungen anrichtet, lässt Böses ahnen. Ein Hobby-Astronom entdeckt durch sein Fernrohr einen Asteroiden, der so groß ist wie Texas und mit 40.000 Stundenkilometern auf die Erde zurast. Sein Aufprall würde das Ende der Menschheit bedeuten. Nur 18 Tage bleiben NASA-Chef Truman, um den "global killer" zu stoppen und den jüngsten Tag, das Armageddon, aus der Offenbarung des Johannes zu verhindern. Die einzige Rettungsmöglichkeit besteht darin, ein 300 Meter tiefes Loch in den Asteroiden zu bohren und diesen mit einer Atombombe zu sprengen. So engagiert Truman den besten Ölbohrer der Welt. Der rauhe Stumper bringt gleich seine hartgesottenen Jungs mit. Gemeinsam werden sie ins All katapultiert. Die Operation verläuft erfolgreich, doch Stumper kehrt nicht zurück. In einer lebensgefährlichen Situation opfert er sich für seinen Partner A. J. Frost, damit seine Tochter Grace nicht den Mann verliert, den sie liebt.

Im Waliser Dorf St. Peter ist man angewiesen auf die Wasserleitung die von den Bergen per offenen Holzrinnen ins Dorf transportiert werden. Gelegentlich kann es vorkommen das die Rinne durch eine Lawinne zerstört wird. Während eines Umtrunks verspricht der Gutsbesitzer Platter dem Gemeindeamman und Wirt des Bären (Gustav Knuth) das er der nächste sein wird der die Rinne reparieren wird. Ein Gefährliches Unternehmen den schon viele Ihr Leben verlieren mussten. In der Nacht wird die Rinne durch eine Lawinne zerstört. Bei für die zweck üblichen Los-Bestimmung löst Platter sein Versprechen ein und stellt sich freiwillig. Am Anfang scheint alles gut zu laufen. Als der Schaden repariert ist und Platter sich auf dem Rückweg machen will, schlüpft er auf dem Wasser aus und stürzt sich zu Tode. Sein Sohn (Hansjörg Felmy) macht den Gemeindeamman für den Tod verantwortlich. Der Heimatfilm besticht in sachen Suspence, Kamaraführung und Schauspielerischen Talentes. Er kann sich mit Hollywood-Filmen messen.

Der smarte CIA-Agent Devlin (Cary Grant) überredet Alice Hubermann (Ingrid Bergmann), die Tochter des verurteilten Nazi-Deutschland-Spion Hubermann, als Agentin den vermeintlichen Chef Alexander Sebastian (Claude Rains) einer Altnazigruppe zu beschatten.

-> Einer der markantesten Szenen, sind das Aufwachen der betrunkenen Alice Hubermann [Kamera in Schräglage] und das Stellen des Weinkellerschlüssels durch sie.

Dies ist die aus dem Original englische Dialogen stammende Deutsche Fassung. Es gab noch eine andere Version der Film als Weises Gift in den deutschen Kinos lief. Dort ging es nicht um Uranschmuggel einer Nazigruppe sondern um Drogenschmuggel einer Südamerikanischen Mafiagruppe.

In den 90er Jahren des 13. Jahrhunderts, wir befinden uns in den Schottischen Highlands. William Wallace (Mel Gibson) verliebt sich in Bauernmädchen. Als diese von einem englischfreundlichen Adelsmann ungebracht wurde, schwört er das er die Engländer aus Schottland rausjagen wird. Es gelingt ihm die Englische Armee unter König Edward de Longchamp [Edward I von Plantagenet] 1297 in Stirling zu schlagen. Die Schwiegertochter des Königs Isabelle of France (Sophie Marceau) hat sympathie für den Rebellen aus den Highlands. Er erobert Falkirk und York. Unterstützt wird er von Robert Bruce (Angus MacFadyen) [später Robert I of Stuart], Doch der Schottische Hochadel ist sehr bestechlich. Das könnte den Freiheitskämpfer sehr zum verhängnis werden. Ein imposanter Film mit schönen Landschaftsaufnahmen und passender schottischer Musik.

Der Kammerdiener des britischen Botschafter in der Türkei Diego <<Gennant Cicero>> (James Mason) hat einen Traum. Er möchte in Rio de Janeiro von einer Vila herabsehen. Um das Geld dafür aufzubringen fotografiert er für die Achsenmächte geheime und prägnante Dossiers. Der Britische MI6 Geheimagent George Travers (Michael Rennie) ist dem Landesverräter auf der Spur. Der Auslandsgeheimdienst des Dritten Reiches plant jedoch Cicero nach Beendigung seines letzten Auftrages zu liquidieren. Cicero wird nun sowohl von den Alliierten wie auch von den Achsenmächten gejagt. Ein spannende Flucht beginnt.

Der durch einen Unfall vorübergehend an den Rollstuhl gefesselte Journalist L. B. Jeffries (James Stewart) beobachtet aus dem Fenster den Innenhof und die umliegenden Häuser. Er stellt fest, durch das Verhalten seines Nachbar Lars Thorwald (Raymond Burr), dass dieser Nachbar seine Frau Mrs. Thorwald (Irene Winston) umgebracht haben könnte. Doch weder seine Freundin Lisa Fremont (Grace Kelly) noch seine Haushälterin Stella (Thelma Ritter) oder sein Freund aus der Polizei (Wendell Corey) glauben ihm seine Geschichte. Doch Lisa und Stella finden immer heraus, dass Jeff recht hat mit seiner Vermutung. -> Der Zuschauer bekommt als Voyer enttarnt. Sehr gute Belichtungskante.

Bei einem Schriftstellertreffen in Russland lernt der Brite Barley Blair (Sean Connery), den russischen Ingenieur Dante (Klaus Maria Brandauer) kennen. Sie stellen fest das Sie etwa die gleichen politischen Ansichten vertreten. Ein paar Monate später bekommt Blair von Dantes Freundin Katja (Michelle Pfeiffer) eine Dokumentation von Dante über, die besagt das die Russischen Waffensysteme nicht mehr der Stand der Technik entsprechen. Sowohl der MI6-Commander Ned (James Fox) wie auch der CIA-Commander Russel (Roy Schneider) möchten die Sache nachprüfen. Sie schicken Blair nach Moskau zurück wo er sich mit Katja anfreundet. In St. Petersburg kommt es zum ersten Treffen mit Dante. Ein zweites Treffen kommt nicht zustande, weil der KGB Dante wegen Landesverrats hingerichtet hat. Der KGB betroht nun auch Katja und deren Familie. Blair der immer mehr zu Katja hingezogen fühlt beschliesst sich zu einem ungewöhnlichen Schritt um Katja aus den Klauen des russischen Geheimdienstes zu befreien.

Der Musiker Manny Balestrero (Henry Fonda) und seine Frau Rose (Vera Miles) leben mit Ihrem 2 Kindern zwar mittellos aber glücklich zusammen. Plötzlich wird Manny von Lt. Bowers (Harold Stone) verdächtigt mehrere Raubüberfälle getätigt zu haben. Der Rechtsanwalt Frank O'Connor (Anthony Quayle) versucht Manny zu verteidigen obwohl alle Zeugen Manny eindeutig identifiziert haben. Während des Verfahren bricht Rose in eine Physische Depression.

Gut gezeichneter Hitchcock-Film, der ausnahmsweise nach einer Wahren Begebenheit handelt. Die Gitterstäbe in Mannys Gesicht, seine Gegenüberstellung und die anderen Szenen wirken dramaturgisch für die Zuschauer.

Guy Haines (Farley Granger) trifft im Zug den seltsamen Bruno Anthony (Robert Walker) an. Dieser bietet ihm eine sonderbare Gegenleistung an. Er [Bruno] ermordet Haines' Frau (Marion Lorne), dafür soll Guy seinen lästigen Vater (Jonathan Hale) umbringen. Guy hält dies für einen Scherz. Später jedoch wird die Frau von Guy wirklich in einem Rummelplatz ermordet. Der Verdacht fällt auf Guy. Bruno verlangt nun von Guy das er seinen Teil der Arbeit, Ermordung von Brunos Vater, ausführt. Guy lehnt ab und Bruno droht Guy, dass er der Polizei gefällsichte Beweise vorlegen wird. Auf der Suche nach einem Ausweg wird Guy von seiner Freundin Ann Morton (Ruth Roman) und dessen Schwester Barbara (Patricia Hitchcock) unterstützt.

Neuguinea im Zweiten Weltkrieg. Walter Christopher Eglund (Cary Grant), ein etwas sonderbarer Zeitgenosse, wird von Lt. Stebbings (Jack Good) beim stehlen von Esswaren und harmlosen Getränken (Whisky!) erwischt. Sein ehemaliger Freund Major Frank Holton (Trevor Howard), der gerade Personen für einen Meldeposten gegen die Japaner sucht, nutzt die Gelegenheit und bittet Walter die Stelle (zur Strafe) an. Damit Walter nicht flieht rahmt er in der Nähe des vereibarten Meldeposten auf einer kleinen Insel das Boot, damit Walter. Auf der nahegelegenen Insel Bundy-Insel ist ein Agent namens Perry in Not. Er ist von Japaner umzingelt. Frank gibt Walter den Auftrag Perry aus Bundy-Insel herauszuholen, im Gegenzug wird Perry den Posten von Walter übernehmen. Anstatt Perry findet Walter auf der Insel nur eine vornehme Frau namens Catherine Frenon (Leslie Caron), die sich als Botschafts-tochter entpuppt. Walter verspricht mit ihr von den Japaner zu fliehen. Doch Frau Frenon hat Walter etwas verschwiegen. Sie ist nicht allein. Denn mit ihr sind 12 Schülerinnen von einer Internatschule dabei.

Eine Turbulente Geschichte mit schwarzem Humor beginnt. Kann der Ruppige Kerl Walter mit frommen Catherine und den Kindern auskommen?

Die vierzehnjährige Grace hat Schreckliches erlebt: Bei einem Reitunfall starb ihre Freundin und sie selbst verlor ihr rechtes Bein. Annie, die Mutter von Grace, eine agile Redakteurin, steckt in einer schweren Krise, erkennt aber, daß die Heilung ihrer Tochter nicht von der Heilung deren schwerverletzten Pferdes Pilgrim zu trennen ist. Sie macht sich mit tiermedizinischer Literatur vertraut und entdeckt, daß es "Spezialisten" gibt, die sich auf das Verhältnis von Menschen und Pferden besonders gut verstehen, die sogenannten "Pferdeflüsterer". Einer von ihnen ist Tom Booker. Sie nimmt Kontakt zu ihm auf, doch der Mann weigert sich strikt, nach New York zu kommen. Also reisen Annie und Grace samt Pilgrim nach Montana, wo Booker auf einer Ranch lebt. Dort geraten die Dinge in Bewegung. Grace faßt allmählich Zutrauen zu Booker, dieser findet langsam Zugang zu dem verstörten Tier, und bei der geschäftstüchtigen Annie treten nach und nach weiche Seiten zutage.

Der Anwalt Morlat (Richard Burton) wird tot in seiner Wohnung aufgefunden. Als Insektor Brunel (Lino Ventura) in Untersuchen möchte bemerkt er das Morlat plötzlich wieder lebt und sorgt dafür das er ins Krankenhaus gebracht wird. Für Dr. Johnson (Gordon Jackson) ist der Fall genauso ungewöhnlich wie für Inspektor Brunel. Mit der Zeit erfährt der Inspektor das Morlat ungewöhnliche PSI-Fähigkeiten hat. Er kann durch seine Gedanken Feuer anzünden, ein Auto anlassen und Personen die er nicht mag oder auf die Nevern gehen zum sterben bringen. Morlat bat die Psychiaterin Dr. Zonfeld (Lee Remick) gegen die Fähigkeiten etwas zu unternehmen. Doch diese hält dies für Wahnvorstellung und glaubt Ihm nicht. Eines Tages ist Sie Zeuge wie Morlat ein Flugzeug in ein Hochhaus zerschellen lässt.

Zurück zur Gegenwart: Morlat liegt zwar immer noch im Sterben im Londoner-Krankenhaus doch seine PSI-Fähigkeiten sind weiterhin aktiv. Inspektor Brunel versucht krampfhaft herauszufinden wer Morlat umbringen wollte und was Morlat als weiteres Zerstören will.

Hervorragende Spannung. Einer besten britischen Filme der 70er Jahre.

Originaltitel: Saving Private Ryan

Alternativtitel

Mit einem achtköpfigen Kommando von G. I.s schmuggelt sich G.I. Captain John Miller 1944 in der Normandie durch die feindlichen Linien der Nazis, um den Gefreiten James Ryan zu suchen. Er ist der jüngste von vier Söhnen einer Farmer-Familie aus Iowa. Ryans Mutter hat wenige Tage zuvor erfahren, dass drei ihrer Söhne innerhalb von 72 Stunden an Kriegsschauplätzen gefallen sind. Am 6. Juni, dem "D-Day", dem Tag, an dem die Alliierten an der Normandieküste landen, beginnt die Wende des Zweiten Weltkrieges. Während der Suche nach Ryan erleben die Männer entsetzliches Leid und die grausame Brutalität des Krieges. Captain Miller und sein Himmelfahrtskommando gelangen schließlich hinter die feindlichen deutschen Linien und finden James Ryan. John Miller jedoch fällt. Er ist nur einer von vielen.

ine Frau (Mary Astor) macht sich Sorgen um ihre Schwester und beauftragt den Privatdetektiv (Humphrey Bogart) mit seinem Partner Miles Archer (Jerome Cowan) einen Mann namens Thursby zu beschatten. Miles nimmt sich der Sache an und wird schon in der ersten Nacht erschossen. Als dann noch Thursbys Leiche auftaucht, gerät Spade selbst unter Mordverdacht. Er sucht die Frau auf und stellt fest, dass ihr wahrer Name Brigid O'Shaughnessy lautet. Nur ansatzweise rückt sie mit der Wahrheit heraus. Der misstrauisch gewordene Spade beginnt vorgeblich in ihrem Auftrag, tatsächlich aber auf eigene Faust, weiter zu ermitteln. Dabei entdeckt er, dass die ganze Geschichte mit einer mysteriösen Falken-Statuette zusammen zu hängen scheint, hinter der so ziemlich jeder, welcher seinen Weg kreuzt, her ist...

Just an dem Tag, als Nick Arden seine seit 5 Jahren verschollene Frau für tot erklären läßt und sich zum zweiten Mal verheiratet, kehrt Ellen quicklebendig zurück. Temperamentvoll wie sie ist, nistet sie sich eben in dem Luxushotel ein, in dem Nick mit seiner frisch angetrauten Bianca die Flitterwochen zu verbringen gedenkt. Und da Nick seine Ellen noch immer attraktiv findet - und sie ihn -, überlegt er verzweifelt, wie er das seiner zweiten Frau mit Anstand beibringen kann. Doch dann erfährt er, daß sich die totgeglaubte Ellen die ganzen letzten Jahre mit einem Muskelprotz in der Südsee amüsiert haben soll. Nun sitzt auch Ellen plötzlich zwischen zwei Stühlen...

Auf Station 3 einem Labor für Pharmazeutische Kampfstoffe wurde eingebrochen und mehrere Flaschen gestohlen. Dr. Baxter, der dieses Stoffes erfunden hat, wurde bei der Tat umgebracht. Ein Erpresser mit noch unbekanntem Namen droht die Welt mit diesen Flaschen zu verseuchen. Der Sicherheitsagent Barret (George Maharis) wird vom General (Dana Andrews) mit dem Fall betraut. Mit im Team ist auch seine Freundin und Tochter des Generals Ann (Anne Francis). Damit der Erpresser beweisen kann das er die Macht hat ganze Regionen zu vernichten, platziert er je eine Flasche in Kay West [Florida] und Los Angeles. Die in Kay West lässt er explodieren, wo nach mehrere 100 Personen an Erstickungen sterben. Nun heisst es handeln und die Flasche in Los Angeles, wo bereits eine Evakuierung begonnen wurde, und die anderen Flaschen zu finden. Bei den Nachforschungen stellt sich heraus das ein Labor-Mitarbeiter einen Autounfall an einem Fluss hatte. Im Fluss finden Ann und Barret den Behälter mit den Flaschen. Doch Sie werden von den Komplizen des Erpressers überrascht und entführt. Der Countdown läuft in Los Angeles, wo die Massenflucht in ein Verkehrstau stecken bleibt. Wird man die Flasche rechtzeitig finden.

Der Film spielt in einem malerischen Ort im Nordosten der USA. Die Bewohner reagieren dort oft Verschlussen auf Änderungen der Gewohnheiten. Im Ort lebt auch die junge Allison MacKenzie (Diana Varsi) mit Ihrer Mutter Constance (Lana Turner). Während sich Allison nach einem Freund sehnt, wünscht Ihre Mutter das auch Allison ein zurückhaltendes Leben führt. Durch die Verwechslung einer Zeugin wird Allison in eine Intrige hineingezogen. Die Zeugin behauptet das Allison nackt mit Ihrem Freund im See gebadet habe. Dadurch entsteht ein Streit zwischen Allison und Ihrer Mutter, so das Allison Peyton Place verlässt. Während Allison sorgen mit Ihrer Mutter hat, hat Selena Cross (Hope Lange) ein schlechtes Verhältnis mit Ihrem häufig betrunkenen Stiefvater Lucas (Arthur Kennedy). Nach einer Vergewaltigung des Vaters an seine Tochter erfährt der Arzt (Lloyd Nolan) das Selena ein Kind erwartet. Diese treibt das Kind ab. Nach der Unterredung des Arztes mit dem Stiefvater verspricht dieser das er den Ort verlässt. Ein Paar Jahre später taucht er wieder auf und trifft Selena im Haus. Diese befürchtet erneut das Ihr Stiefvater Sie vergewaltigt und erschlägt Ihn in. Sie begräbt Ihn. Wochen später beichtet Sie es Constance MacKenzie. Selena wird vor Gericht gestellt. Doch Sie bittet dem Arzt nichts von der Vergewaltigung zu sagen.

Das Kind Heidi (Elsbeth Sigmund) kommt nach dem Tod Ihrer Eltern zum Grossvater Alp-Öhi (Heinrich Grettler), der auf einem Bauernhof hochoben auf dem Bergen von Maienfeld wohnt. Sie freundet sich dem Geissenpeter (Thomas Klameth) und mit dessen Mutter (Margrit Rainer) an und fühlt sich wohl beim Alp-Öhi. Als Ihre Tante Dete ins Dorf kommt, hat Sie die Absicht das Kind mitzunehmen zu Herrn Sesemann (Willy Birgel) nach Frankfurt mitzunehmen. Alp-Öhi lehnt ab. Als der Alp-Öhi eine Zeit nicht aufpasst, entführt Tante Dete Heidi nach Frankfurt. Dort soll Sie die Autoritäre Lehrerin Frau Rottenmeier (Anita Mey) unterrichten. Sie freundet sich zwar dort mit Klara (Isa Günter), der Tochter von Herrn Sesemann an, doch hat sie immer wieder Heimweh nach dem Grossvater und den Bergen. Mit der Zeit wird Heidi immer mehr Krank. Lässt Sie Herrn Sesemann nun wieder zurück in die Schweiz? Beste Heidi-Romanverfilmung mit schönen Landschaftsaufnahmen und charakterlichen Schauspielerischen Leistungen.

Ned Devine erliegt vor Freude über einen Lottogewinn einem Herzschlag. Die Bewohner seines Dorfes, allen voran der Rentner Jackie O'Shea, versuchen nun, mit allen möglichen Tricks an das Geld zu kommen. Jackie und sein engster Vertrauter Michael wollen den Gewinn unter Ned Divines Namen anmelden, doch als sie von der Höhe der Summe erfahren, bekommen sie ein schlechtes Gewissen. Es handelt sich nämlich um sieben Millionen Pfund. Die beiden ziehen die Dorfgemeinschaft ins Vertrauen, um alle gleichmäßig zu beteiligen. Alle finden das prima - nur die griesgrämige Lizzie zieht nicht mit. Sie will die anderen wegen Betrugs anzeigen und damit - so lautet das Gesetz - an zehn Prozent der Gewinnsumme kommen.

Als sich ein General des sowjetischen Geheimdienstes in den Westen absetzt, sehen die Amerikaner eine Chance, auf ungewöhnliche Weise das russische Agentennetz in einigen Ländern Westeuropas zu zerreißen. Auf einer dramatischen Zugfahrt von Mailand nach Holland benutzen sie den Überläufer als Köder für seine ehemaligen Kollegen. In den winterlichen Alpen greifen Sowjet-Agenten den Express zum erstenmal an. Als der nächtliche Überfall mißlingt, forcieren sie ihre Aktionen und lassen sogar eine riesige Lawine gegen den Zug donnern.

Jessica liegt mit einem Hexenschuß im Bett. Durch Zufall hört sie am Telefon ein Gespräch mit, in dem ein Mann einen Killer anheuert, der einen Millionär von Cabot Cove in seinem Landhaus umbringen soll. Jessica mobilisiert Amos und ihren Neffen Grady, die versuchen sollen, den Mord zu verhindern. Aber die beiden nehmen Jessicas Behauptung nicht ernst. Am nächsten Morgen berichten die Zeitungen vom Tod des Sägemühlenbesitzers Jedediah Rogers. Jessica beauftragt Grady, für sie ein bißchen zu spionieren. Er freundet sich mit Leslie an, der Enkelin des Ermordeten. Von ihr erfährt er auch, daß Jedediah Rogers mit seinen Söhnen zerstritten war und im Begriff stand, sein Testament zu ändern. Amos besorgt ihr die Stimmen von Adam, Morgan und Gordon Rogers. Während Jessica von ihrem Bett aus versucht, den Auftraggeber des Mordes herauszuhören, tobt ein Sturm über Cabot Cove. Und Jessicas Telefon ist plötzlich tot ...

Der Gangster Steve (Clancy Brown) hält im Haus des Juweliers Berger (Milton Selzer) Personen als Geissel gefangen. Steve befiehlt Berger das er in sein eigenen Laden einbrechen soll und das gestohlene Gut [Edelsteine] ihm als Lösegeld zu übergeben hat. Der Juwelier wird von der Polizei beim Einbruch erwischt. Als er ihnen die Situation erklärt schaltet sich das FBI unter Warren Stantin (Sidney Poitier) ein. Die Polizei umzigt das Haus. Der Geisselnehmer nimmt die Frau des Juweliers als Geissel zu einem Bootshafen mit. Er verspricht Stantin das er die Frau, sobald er das Lösegeld erhalten hat und in Sicherheit ist, freilässt. An einem Bootshafen findet die Lösegeldübergabe statt. Nach einer Minute ruhe ist ein Bootsgeräusch und ein Schuss zu hören. Die Frau wird auf sadistischer Weise umgebracht. Steve entkommt. Die Suche beginnt. Als in den Bergen zu Kanada eine Leiche aufgefunden wird die mit den gleichen Methoden umgebracht wurde, setzt Stantin seine Verfolgung in Bergen fort. Er erfährt das sich der Killer einer Bergwandergruppe unter der Leitung der Bergführerin Sarah (Kristie Alley) angeschlossen hat um nach Kanada zu fliehen. Der Freund von Ihr Jonathan Knox (Tom Berenger) unterstützt Stantin bei der Verfolgung weil beide Angst haben das Sahrha vom Killer Steve entführt oder sogar ermordet wird. Eine spannende Verfolgungsjagd in den Bergen beginnt. Eindrückliche Landschaftsaufnahme und der Gegensatz zwischen Stadtmenschen [Stantin] und Landmenschen [Knox] geben dem Film die Charakterlichen Noten.

Der Mythos um Atlantis ist heute wie vor 2500 Jahren präsent. Warum beschäftigt sich die Menschheit mit einer Insel und einem Volk das untergegangen ist? Gerade diese zwei offenen Fragen sind so präsent, dass es gilt diese zu klären. Das Terra-X-Team untersucht verschiedene Theorien über die Frage wo lag Atlantis und wann bzw. wie es untergegangen ist. Auch die Frage ob Atlantis jemals existiert hat wird dargelegt. Interessant sind die Wissenschaftler die im Film Ihre Wotten abgeben. Jeder von Ihnen ist überzeugt das Geheimnis um Atlantis gelüftet zu haben.

Durch die hervorragenden Schnitttechniken, dem passenden Ton und die einfach nachvollziehbaren Analysen wird man in diesem Dokumentstreifen direkt in den Bann genommen. Es weckt einem nachher das Interesse mehr über das Thema zu erfahren.

Das Terra-X-Team um Gottfried Kirchner hat mit Ihrer Hystorie-Dokumentationsserie seit Jahren mit recht Erfolg.

Der Architekt Doug Roberts (Paul Newman) eines gigantischen Wolkenkratzer in San Francisco stellt am Tage der Einweihung fest das die Elektrokabelisolation nicht den Sicherheitsbestimmungen entsprechen. Er informiert den Bauherren Jim Ducan (William Holden) das dies ein Brand verursachen kann. Sowohl Ducan wie auch sein Schwiegersohn Simmons (Richard Chamberlain), der für die Isolation zuständig gewesen ist, meinen Roberts übertreibt. Im obersten Stock versammeln sich die Einweihungsgäste, während in einer Abstellkammer ein Kabel, aufgrund der Hitze der gesamten Lichtanschaltung reisst. Es entsteht ein Grossbrand. Während der Feuerwehrchef O'Halloran (Steve McQueen) zusammen mit Doug Roberts und dem Sicherheitschef Jernigan (O.J. Simpson) unten versucht das Feuer zu löschen und Leute zu evakuieren. Versucht Jim Ducan zusammen mit Senator Parker (Robert Vaughn) und dem Bürgermeister die Einweihungsgäste zu evakuieren. Bei beiden Teams tauchen immer wieder hindernisse auf.

Dieser Film ist für einen Lehrfilm über Feuer in Wolkenkratzer gedacht. Er wurde durch den kalifornischen Feuerwehrverband unterstützt. Durch dessen Beratung wirkt der Film realistisch im gegensatz zu anderen Wolkenkratzerfeuerfilmen.

Ein Mann wird ermordet. Eigentlich nicht ungewöhnliches für eine Großstadt wie New Orleans. Als man die Leiche untersucht stellt man fest dass der Ermordete sich mit der Pest angesteckt hat. Lieutenant Commander Dr. Clinton Reed U.S. Public (R. Widmark) von der US-Gesundheitsbehörde und Police Captain Tom Warren (P. Douglas) müssen nun herausfinden wer der Mörder ist und mit wem sich der Ermordete herumgetrieben hat bzw. ob sich noch andere Personen angesteckt haben. Je länger die Ermittlungen dauern desto mehr Personen könnten sich angesteckt haben. Eine gelungene Mischung zwischen Katastrophenfilm des Untergenres Seuchen und Plagen und einem Krimi.
